(54) Title: WORLD CLOCK

(57) Abstract: A clockwork comprises at least one first pointer (40, 42, 44) and a second pointer (46) and is designed for indicating a local time by means of a circular pointer movement over a dial, and further comprises a drive mechanism coupled to the pointers. In particular, a pointer arrangement is present comprising said at least one first pointer (42) and indicating local time with a slowest-pointer period of revolution of twelve hours and one or several further pointers (40, 44) coupled thereto and having shorter periods of revolution, such as minute and/or second hands. Furthermore, the second pointer (46) indicates a world time with a period of revolution of twenty-four hours, cooperating with a scale (22) of which the number of graduations preferably denoted "turnes", is a multiple of 24. In a preferred embodiment, the second pointer (46) cooperates with a scale (22) comprising 360 degrees or graduations. The clockwork may be constructed as a watch, but it may alternatively be used to advantage elsewhere, for example on monitor screens of PCs and mobile telephones.

* Special categories of cited documents:

*A* document defining the general state of the art which is not considered to be of particular relevance

*E* earlier document but published on or after the International filing date

*L* document which may throw doubts on priority claim(s) or which is cited to establish the publication date of another citation or other special reason (as specified)

*O* document referring to an oral disclosure, use, exhibition or other means

*P* document published prior to the International filing date but later than the priority date claimed

*T* later document published after the International filing date or priority date and not in conflict with the application but cited to understand the principle or theory underlying the invention

*X* document of particular relevance; the claimed invention cannot be considered novel or cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is taken alone

*Y* document of particular relevance; the claimed invention cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is combined with one or more other such documents, such combination being obvious to a person skilled in the art.

*Z* document member of the same patent family
